

BULGARS MUST DECIDE TODAY

RUSSIAN MINISTER WILL LEAVE SOFIA AT ONCE ALONG WITH HIS STAFF

Bulgarian Minister, However, Will Not Be Expelled, But Will Not Be Recognized.

GREECE WITH THE ALLIES

French Troops Land at Saloniki to Assist the Greeks in the War.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Bulgaria must make its choice today for an open alliance with the central powers and Turkey, or for neutrality. When its decision will be made known publicly rests with the Bulgarians, but it is regarded as unlikely that there will be delay in satisfying the widespread anxiety to know the best or the worst.

There is a marked division of opinion in London as to which side King Ferdinand and Premier Radomir will choose. Notwithstanding all the signs of hostility toward Serbia on the part of Bulgaria, the opinion is expressed by some well informed diplomats that Bulgaria will not fight and that even though the government should elect to do so the Bulgarian people would resist such a policy.

Sofia Still Denies. In the meantime Sofia continues to deny the existence of the military conditions on which the Russian ultimatum is based. Negative action, however, will not satisfy the allies, who demand that Bulgaria "shall openly break with the enemies of the Slav cause."

If action by the Entente powers should become necessary when Bulgaria makes final disclosures of its intentions, this action would be undertaken by troops, which now are in readiness to take the field simultaneously with the forces of Greece. The opinion is expressed here that a prompt movement, such as would be undertaken, would be likely to disentangle the councils of Roumania, which for the moment seem obscure.

Great Danger to Germany. British military writers affect to see in this situation a great danger to the central powers. They argue that plans must have been laid down some weeks ago when it was supposed the German army was likely to force a decision in the East and before the unexpected mobilization of Greece. Since the plans for the Teutonic campaign against Serbia were conceived, Russia has brought the German advance almost to a standstill and claims now to hold the initiative along most of the front.

The results of the great recruiting rally in England on Saturday are not yet known, but it is generally understood that Lord Kitchener intends to get the men by one means or another. "I know how many men I want," he told the labor leaders. "I know their names and the numbers of their doors, and if they don't come I will fetch them. Give me the men and munitions I want and I guarantee we shall have the war in the hollow of our hands."

RUSSIAN MINISTER IS TO DEPART FROM SOFIA

PETROGRAD, Oct. 4.—Unless Bulgaria has conceded fully to the demands of Russia concerning the breaking off of relations with the central powers by 2 o'clock this afternoon the Russian minister at Sofia and his staff will depart. However, as Russia draws a distinction between the Bulgarian government and the Bulgarian people, no repressive measures will be adopted against Bulgarian subjects in Russia.

Even M. Madjarow, Bulgarian minister to Russia, will not be expelled. He will be permitted to remain undisturbed although no official relations will be maintained with him as the representative of King Ferdinand.

The foreign office explains that the fact that Russia alone sent an ultimatum to Bulgaria, was due to voluntary recognition on the part of her allies of this nation's predominance in the Balkans and of its moral plans upon the gratitude of the Balkan people.

REMARKABLE ONE-CENT SALE IS ANNOUNCED

Standard Articles to Be Sold for Penny Each at Rexall's Store.

A remarkable one-cent sale, a new thing just instituted throughout the country by the 7,000 Rexall drug stores, is announced for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at Sturm and Wilson's, the Rexall drug store of Clarksburg.

The plan of this one-cent sale is announced by the Rexall company as follows: On the days advertised, a purchaser who buys an article of established value at its regular price is entitled to buy a second article, exactly the same, for one cent, no matter what the regular established price. An example, if a person buys a tube of Rexall tooth paste for twenty-five cents a second tube is sold for one cent. If the purchase is a Maximum hot water bottle for $2, a second Maximum hot water bottle may be taken by the purchaser for one cent. Dozens of other desirable articles are included in the sale.

For Introduction. A material part of the cost of all merchandise is due to the expense of introducing them to new customers. By the one-cent sale plan this cost is reduced. Goods of standard value are sold to many thousands of new users. The Rexall concern believes that the best advertising is the satisfied user; that if one is pleased with a tooth paste, soap or any other article he will continue to use it. And thus the concern makes many new customers.

By selling for one cent goods ranging in price from ten cents to $2, the Rexall store offers a strong inducement to try merchandise of the highest quality and become a permanent user. Distribution is increased at less cost. Both the purchaser and the Rexall store gain.

Through Co-operation. Even so, the one-cent sale would not be possible except for the great co-operative purchasing power of the more than 7,000 Rexall stores. These stores operate six great factories with branches and control the entire output of others. They are able to sell goods of maximum value at minimum price.

That there may be no misunderstanding as to the quality of these products, it is understood that the Rexall store will cheerfully refund the money paid on return of the goods if after one tries them he feels each item is not worth the regular price.

Every one is Clarksburg and its vicinity should take advantage of this remarkable sale and should keep in mind the dates—Thursday Friday and Saturday, October 7, 8 and 9.

BIG WAR LOAN TO EUROPEAN POWERS FULLY SUBSCRIBED

And Morgan and Company Announce That Books Are to Close at Once.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—An important announcement indicating the success of the Anglo-French loan was made today by J. P. Morgan and Company. It was to the effect that no subscriptions to the underwriting will be received after 10 a. m., tomorrow.

Closing of the underwriting books tomorrow was interpreted as meaning that the entire amount of the bond issue had been subscribed. It is regarded as likely that returns today and up to the closing hour tomorrow will show that the issue has been over subscribed. The extent of over subscription is a matter of speculation, but it is not generally thought in financial circles that it will be very large.

The syndicate of managers has indicated that the small subscribers' desire will be considered, should there be an over subscription and that the larger amounts would be reduced if necessary to accommodate the small investors. Virtually all the small investors, it was said, were permitted to subscribe at the underwriters' terms. In order to obtain the underwriters' terms, however, the smaller investors have been required to buy at 98 with the promise of a rebate later of 1 3/4. This arrangement likewise applies to the underwriters.

POLICE ARE BAFFLED BY THE MYSTERIOUS DISAPPEARANCE OF YOUNG SCHOOL TEACHER

Blaine Smith Missing for Six Days and No Clues Found By Authorities.

After six days of investigation without the finding of any clues, police today admitted they were completely baffled by the mysterious disappearance of Blaine Smith, aged 24, a teacher in the junior high school in the Washington Irving high school building. In the time that has elapsed since Smith left the home on Preston street, where he roomed, police have worked on several different theories, only to find no basis for any of them.

Smith, whose home is in Middlebourne, left the home of Rufus Ogden, 514 Preston street, where he roomed, between 9 and 9:30 o'clock last Tuesday night and since that time no trace of him has been found. That the young man did not leave under ordinary circumstances is shown by the fact that he left the fire and lights burning in his room and on the table in the room was found an open book, in which was his lesson plan for the next day.

Police notified G. W. Smith, father of the missing man, soon after the disappearance, and he came to this city and spent several days here last week aiding the police in their investigation, but without result.

When members of the Ogden household learned that the young man was missing they notified the police and Sergeant F. J. Tracy, who was an intimate friend of the young man, conducted an investigation. Smith's valise was found to be missing, but practically all of his clothes were left in the room. What he carried away in the valise is one of the chief puzzles before the police. Smith was a pupil of Sergeant Tracy for two years when the latter was a teacher in the Middlebourne high school. "Blaine was the best pupil in my class," said Mr. Tracy. "In all the years that I taught him I never had to speak a cross word to him, and he never came to school a single day without having his lessons prepared. I can say positively that he had no bad habits and was a perfect gentleman."

The young man graduated from the Fairmont normal school last spring with honors. At the close of the school he participated in an oratorical contest of one of the literary societies and was the winner of the medal.

He was in charge of the seventh grade in the junior high school here. It is not believed that Smith had over $5 on his person when he left last Tuesday night, as he had a check for that amount cashed Tuesday. The check was sent him by his father.

A ray of hope that the young man had merely gone away for a short visit was found Wednesday when F. L. Burdette, superintendent of schools, stated that Smith had told him a few days before that he intended to be gone a day or two in the near future. However, the circumstances under which he left and the length of time that he has been gone, have exploded this theory.

"Police are still hard at work on the case, and it is probably that a general alarm will be sent out over the state in a day or two.

RECOUNT

Of Votes Shows That a Civil War Veteran Had Been Counted Out.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—A new angle was today given to the alleged fraud in the general primary election of two weeks ago when a recount of votes in the twenty-fifth ward, instituted at the instance of Representative Stephen G. Porter, of the Twenty-ninth congressional district, disclosed that Charles B. Milligan, a Civil War veteran, had been counted out in the contest for alderman. Eighty-eight votes cast for Milligan were found to have been changed. Mr. Porter declared he would institute criminal proceedings against the guilty parties.

Charges that they intimidated voters in Braddock were filed today against Thomas Howard, a former deputy sheriff; J. J. McCarthy, chief of police; J. Goldstein, a constable; Henry Schermer, George Kellogg and John Korman, all of Braddock.

STRIKE TIES UP FIVE FACTORIES IN SINGLE CITY

DR. M'CUAIG QUITE BUSY WITH TALKS

Addresses are Quite Fascinating and Famous Lecturer Draws Large Crowds.

Following the three addresses of yesterday, Dr. McCuaig speaks twice today. At 3 o'clock tonight in the First Baptist church he will discuss the subject of "Social Evil and Our Children." This afternoon he delivered the first of his course of lectures on eugenics, the subject being "The Native Instincts in the Child."

Dr. McCuaig's lecture this afternoon was an interesting, even fascinating address, displaying as much good taste in the choice of language as good sense in considering the subject dealt with.

To begin with, said the speaker, eugenics is not a science; it is no more than a study today. The object of eugenics is race improvement—it will accomplish what and all it can in that direction by training rightly the growing individuals of the race.

The child has certain native instincts. Hunger and thirst show first. Early comes the instinct to acquire, to clutch and hold to things. Temper shows with the awakening of self-consciousness.

MERIDEN, Conn., Oct. 4.—About 3,000 silver and cut glass workers employed in the five factories here of the International Silver Company walked out today because the firm had not reconsidered its refusal to grant certain demands made by the employees.

The demands were made and refused last week and the employees, who have been organized under the American Federation of Labor set today as the limit for reconsideration by the company. In addition the employees of Menning, Bowman and Company, makers of table ware and specialties, also struck.
